Burglars Hit Barry's Store

Barry's Quick Sak was entered through a front door last night and between $15 and $20 in silver, and a check in the sum of $90 was taken, City Police reported. The burglar broke a pane in one of doors to gain entrance. Officers Brown, Milam, McCutley investigated.

Spa Probe to Open at Fort Smith

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A special session of the federal grand jury of the Eastern District of Arkansas was to open at Fort Smith today, for what is expected to be an investigation of gambling activities in the Hot Springs area.

The session was to open against this background:

Congress has passed a law virtually grinding to a halt all interstate operations of gamblers, including traveling from one state to another for the purpose of conducting gambling operations. The law prohibits the shipment of gambling paraphernalia across state lines and even the mailing of checks cashed for gambling purposes to another state.

Andrew Bass of West Memphis has been convicted under that law and two men have been sentenced for interstate dealings in the Fort Smith (Arkansas-Oklahoma) area. Last week U. S. District Attorney Charles Conway of Fort Smith confirmed that subpoenas had been served on several persons in Hot Springs, center of Arkansas' gambling activity. The state legalized only pari-mutuel betting now, and the Oklahoma race track and West Memphis dog racing tracks are operated under these laws.

Prior to the subpoenaing of the Hot Springs men, of which at least six are reported to be club cashiers, an informal school was established by two of the clubs to train in-state residents to operate games. This would help keep operations within the federal laws.

Since passage of the federal act, a recurrent movement to have the state legalize, supervise and tax gambling operations in Garland County has gained both strength and opposition.

State Sen. Q. Bryum Hurst of Hot Springs has indicated the 1963 state Legislature, which opens in January, might get a proposal for state-supervised gambling. Sen. Vergil Fletcher of Benton said Saturday he would support such a measure.

Both businessmen and the Chamber of Commerce of the Spa are expected to enter the controversy, on the "pro" side of legalized gambling, at least for the time being.

The Hot Springs chamber was active in the successful fight in 1956 to get approved a constitutional amendment to continue legal horse racing and pari-mutual wagering.

But in Hot Springs Monday the city's Ministerial Association passed a resolution condemning any legislative attempts to legalize gambling either in Arkansas or at-large in Garland County.

There were 23 churches represented at the meeting at which the resolution was passed. Association members were called on "to exert their efforts to defeating such proposals."

The resolution also urged that Hot Springs Mayor Dan Wolf and Gov. Orval E. Faubus "enforce all laws, including those prohibiting gambling."

UN Believes War Threat Is Over

UNITED NATION, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly nears the end of a session that survived the peril of war over Cuba but still faces the threat of bankruptcy from the Congo.

With less than two weeks to go before the Dec. 21 deadline the assembly and its main committees are expected to plunge into a round of night sessions to try to wind up their heavy agenda on time.

The 110-nation assembly, tied up in a marathon debate over Portugal's treatment of its African colony of Angola, still must discuss the wordy question of ending colonialism throughout the world.

Milk Price Hearing
WASHINGTON (AP)—A Dec. 18 public hearing was scheduled Monday by the Agriculture Department on central Arkansas milk prices. The Department said the hearing was requested by the Central Arkansas Milk Producers Association and that a proposal to make prices conform to those in the Memphis area will be considered.

Students Finish Self Help Course

Following the completion of Hope Junior High School's Medical Self Help Course and the inspiring graduation address given by Dr. Harvie Ellis, Director of Health Mobilization for Arkansas, 153 seventh graders were presented student diplomas certifying that they had taken and satisfactorily completed the Self Help Course.

History was more than in the making for this class of students. It was made by them. They were the first school students in the State of Arkansas to have the Self Help material added to their present school health curricula and are the first 7th grade Junior High School Class in the nation to complete the portion of the Medical Self Help program offered students.

Throughout the entire course, lesson contents presented to the students, were under the supervision of the State and Local Health Departments, Hope Junior High School, and the local Medical Society.

Bottom: This is Hope Junior High School, scene of the first Medical Self Help Course in Arkansas. Many other schools are following the example set by the local school system.

Group Will Take Look at Aid Program

By HARRY KELLER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has set up a bipartisan committee to take a hard, new look at the $4-billion-a-year foreign aid program and see if it's filling the bill.

To head the blue-ribbon group Kennedy named retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who for eight critical months was the President's representative in West Berlin.

One obvious aim of the study was to shape a program which will gain congressional and public approval in 1963.

The White House said Monday the group—named the committee to strengthen the Security of the Free World—will undertake an immediate review of our military and economic assistance to determine whether the level and distribution of these programs is contributing materially to the security of the United States and is directed to specific and attainable goals of economic and political stability in the free world.

Last month, Fowler Hamilton resigned as administrator of the foreign aid agency, the Agency for International Development, after only one year in the job.

Some officials had criticized him for shaking up the organization.

When he stepped out, Hamilton advised the establishment of a permanent committee to examine the program's content and administration and recommend changes. A White House source said formation of the committee followed along the lines of Hamilton's suggestion.

To succeed Hamilton, Kennedy named Budget Director David E. Bell.

Negro Boys Held in Robbery Try

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP) — Two teenage Negro boys were being held Sunday in the Mississippi County Jail at Osceola pending a hearing in connection with an attempted robbery and shooting Friday night.

Deputy Sheriff Cliff Cannon said Sammy Rice, 19, and Lee Brown, 16, both of Osceola, were arrested Saturday.

John W. Murrell, a liquor store operator, was critically wounded in the attempted robbery, which netted no money. He was shot four times in the legs and abdomen and was in serious condition at a Memphis hospital Sunday.

Rice was arrested at his mother's home in Memphis. Cannon said he and Sheriff William Berryman were returning the boy to Osceola when they spotted a stolen car at Frenchman's Bayou on U.S. Highway 61. Cannon said Brown was driving the car, which was stolen at West Memphis.

Cannon said the boys signed statements admitting that Brown stole a .22-caliber rifle which Rice used to shoot Murrell. He said both admitted taking part in the attempted robbery.

Arsenal Named

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The arsenal at Pine Bluff was given the official name, United States Army Pine Bluff Arsenal Monday.

Its previous title had been the U.S. Army Chemical Arsenal at Pine Bluff. The installation is part of the Chemical, Biological and Radiological Agency with headquarters at Edgewood Arsenal, Md. Under a general reorganization of the Army which began last August it will become a part of the Munitions Command with headquarters at Picatinny Arsenal, N.J.

Can't Accept Red Troops in Cuba, Rusk Say

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet troops are being withdrawn from Cuba at a very slow rate, U.S. officials said today. And although the United States is not pressing Russia on the issue it is expected to do so if the withdrawals are not speeded up fairly soon.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Monday that the role of Soviet combat units in Cuba "is of great concern to us and something we will follow very carefully."

"Certainly we in this hemisphere could not accept as a normal situation any Soviet military presence in Cuba," he said.

The number of Soviet officers and men stationed on the Caribbean island is estimated at 9,000 to possibly 15,000—some organized, Rusk said, "into what appeared to be Soviet combat units."

He described the scale of Soviet power in Cuba as "modest ... but well armed."

"Whether these (troops) were there for the protection of certain sites, missile sites or otherwise, or for some other purpose is something that is being, of course, watched very carefully."

Rusk held his first regular news conference since last July a few hours before flying to Paris for the annual December Cabinet-level meeting of the 15-nation North Atlantic Council.

Rusk planned individual meetings there with Allied foreign ministers and said much of the discussion in the council sessions, opening Thursday, would be concerned with "the world situation," which includes Cuba, the India-Red China conflict and the crisis in relations between Red China and Russia.

In response to questions, Rusk appeared to take issue with former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who said recently that Britain had ceased to be a world power and had not yet found a new role. Rusk called Britain "one of the really great powers in this Atlantic community."

As for Cuba, Rusk said that the U.S. government was informed that Soviet forces in Cuba for the protection of nuclear weapon bases would be withdrawn in due course.

This pledge—which was disclosed by President Kennedy at a news conference Nov. 20—was made by Premier Khrushchev in a letter to Kennedy that day.

Officials say that the promise was put in general rather than precise terms and it was not known here just how large the Soviet withdrawal would be.

Job Plan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A locally developed economic growth plan to create jobs in Polk County, Ark., was approved Monday by the Area Redevelopment Administration. Approval makes the area eligible for federal aid for job-creating projects.

Art Center to Be Dedicated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Arts Center Artmobile will be dedicated Thursday at Little Rock.

Ceremonies were postponed a week ago when the artmobile was delayed by ice and snow while en route to Arkansas from Ohio.

The first showing includes a cargo of 17th century paintings from the Netherlands. They are mounted in the 40-foot long gallery.

The canvases — 17 of them — are mounted on specially constructed walls. Recordings provide information on the painting and the artist.

The air conditioned artmobile is 67 feet long.

Communist Party Goes on Trial

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party of the United States goes on trial today for refusing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

The criminal action marks one more step in the government's long fight to force Communists to comply with the 1950 Internal Security Act.

"If the Justice Department is allowed to bring the Communist party to trial as scheduled," James J. Tormey said, "American democracy itself will be placed in the dock."

"No minority party, no American will be safe."

Tormey is executive secretary of the Defense Committee for Gus Hall and Benjamin J. Davis. In a separate case, Hall and Davis have been indicted for refusing to register as individual officers of the Communist party.

The Justice Department identifies Hall as general secretary and Davis as national secretary of the party.

"For the first time in the history of our country," he continued, "a political party has been brought into a criminal court and put on trial."

Aly. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has explained that the 1950 act does not outlaw the Communist party but declares it "is a Communist-action organization, substantially controlled, dominated and directed by the Soviet Union."

The Supreme Court upheld the law's constitutionality in a 5-4 decision in June 1961.

Among other things, the law directed the party to register as a tool of Moscow, to list its officers and members and give an annual financial accounting.

The Justice Department set up registration deadlines for the party, its officers and its members.

When the deadlines passed without compliance, the party and leaders were indicted and the Justice Department set up the machinery for declaring individuals to be party members.

If convicted, the party may be fined up to $10,000 for each day it refuses to register and provide the information about its officers, members and finances.

Winter Strikes Over Nation Schools Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow closed schools and stranded motorists in the North today while freezing air threatened Florida's multi-million dollar crops today.

The icy one-two punch of wintry weather was the second to hit many areas in the eastern half of the nation since last Thursday.

Millions felt the sting of the cold, blustery weather. The heavy, blowing snow inconvenienced other millions.

Schools closed travel slowed, and Christmas shoppers delayed buying tours.

Storm-related deaths soared past the 50 mark.

Weather forecasters held no hope of any immediate, general relief. Even colder weather was the unhappy forecast in many areas. And the winter season does not start officially until Dec. 22.

Midwinter scenes were general along the southeast shores of the Great Lakes region, in sections of New York State, and other eastern areas. Huge drifts piled high as snow squalls persisted, adding more snow atop the heavy amounts left by last week's storms. Cleanup operations were slowed — and halted in some places.

Farmers and grove owners worked through the night as heavy frost and freezing temperatures hit every section of the state except the Keys. Smudge fires were started to protect tender vegetable crops. Workers sprayed fields with water, dampening the soil so it would hold the heat better.

The unseasonably cold weather threatened the multi-million dollar Florida citrus and vegetable crops, now near their peak of harvest.

It was below freezing in northern sections of Florida, with readings of 26 in Tallahassee and Gainesville. Miami's low was a frosty 40. Key West, in the extreme south, was 55—far below normal.

More than 150 persons were forced to abandon autos and trucks along the Thruway and were stranded overnight at a Thruway rest area. About 150 other persons, aided by snow plows and state police, joined in a convoy for a 2 1/2 hour, 15-mile trip from Angola to Buffalo, where the weather was clear.

About 18 inches of fresh snow whirled through the New York region, hitting the area which had been buried by as much as 30 inches of snow last weekend. Winds of 35 m.p.h. whipped the heavy snow into huge drifts. Earlier, more than a foot of snow was dumped across northern New York sections.

Pilot Survives Plane Crash

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Bryan Johnson, 28, was dusting a pepper field Sunday when the engine of his plane failed.

The plane crashed into a row of pine trees, fell 40 feet and landed on its nose, pushing the engine into the cabin. Johnson was pinned against twisted metal.

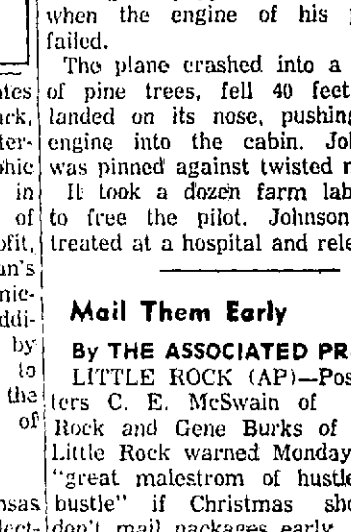

It took a dozen farm laborers to free the pilot. Johnson was treated at a hospital and released.

MAN ON THE SKEWBALD MARE
By Nelson C. Nye

THE STORY: Sheriff Sparks hears Rafe's story, but doesn't seem to be inclined to do anything about it.

XIV

Rafe, glowing after the Sheriff, slammed the door so violently that, off out of sight, something fell with a clatter. Still muttering fierce scowling, he threw open the window to blow the place out. But there wasn't so much as a breath of air stirring. All the open window did was let in more heat and with a snarl of disgust Rafe picked up his shell belt and buckled it around him, looking sure enough about as riled as a man could get.

He wished now he'd asked what Sheriff Sparks proposed to do about the pair outside that was keeping him bottled up in this place—not that he was like to have done anything anyway. At least it would have given Rafe a chance to work off some of his spleen. Still thinking about it he hauled open the door and went prowling for Bunny.

She was still in the kitchen, flour on her arms and dough on the bread board. She looked round with a smile that tried hard to say as she took in, sobering the signs of Rafe's mood. She said, "It won't be forever, if that's any consolation. Why don't you go sit on the porch and cool off?"

He said in self pity, "You tryin' to get me a harp?"

"I don't think those fellows will do anything so long as they believe you're not trying to duck out."

"Well, thanks," Rafe said thinly. "Sure pleasures my thinkin' a heap to hear that."

She made a little face. Then she sighed, prodding her dough. "Most of the boys I knew back home, if they'd been cooped up like this with a girl, would have found better things to do with time than moping around, fretting and stewing, the way you've been ever since you've been up."

Rafe, stopped short, went still as a fencepost, looking at her as though she'd sprouted two heads. "They'd know a girl likes to be noticed. Probably most of them," she said, going on with her work, "would have first of all figured on improving their acquaintance."

She slanted him a look as she was rolling out her dough.

Rafe had heard more than enough. He got out of that kitchen like the heel flies were after him. "Lordy!" he breathed, propping a chair against his door, eyes big as slop buckets. He dragged a sleeve across his face, sagged into the chair, looking about as limp as a bundle of dish rags. Talk about your Deliahs! He'd bumped into some pretty designing females in some of the places he'd been since the War but never, by grab, any girl bold as Bunny!

He got onto his feet with his clothes sticking to him, too upset to think straight, too indignant to sit still; and yet, somehow, filled with a strange and delicious excitement. He realized this was because her wiles were tightening against a scheming woman ... or, he thought, suddenly colder than frogs, a woman scorned. And it was no danged help for him to stand here shaking. He'd better dig for the tules—andale pronto, real quick-like.

This was the straw he fastened to, in his perturbation completely forgetting the gun-hawks outside. He found his hat and chin-strapped it to him, was taking a last nervous look around when remembrance of Spangler's henchmen hit, pretty near taking the legs out from under him. With both fists gripped to the sash he

Kennedy Goes All Out for Stevenson

NEW YORK (AP)—Life magazine reports that President Kennedy personally threw open government files to two newsmen who wrote an account of U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's role in the Cuban crisis. The White House said the Life article was "completely without foundation."

Life said Sunday that the President's intention was for the two Saturday Evening Post writers to prepare a semi-official chronology of the event of the October crisis but that their resulting story tended to make out Stevenson as an appeaser.

Stevenson and the White House have denied the role attributed to him in the Post by writers Charles Bartlett and Stewart Alsop. And after three days of controversy Kennedy expressed "fullest confidence" in the United Nations ambassador.

Nevertheless, Life said, Bartlett and Alsop "planted the seeds of trouble, which could yet bring about Stevenson's withdrawal from the government."

After the Post article appeared last week, there was published speculation that Kennedy was, as the New York Daily News put it, "greasing the skids" for Stevenson's ouster several months hence.

Life disputed, point by point, the Post account of Stevenson's Cuban crisis role. It said Stevenson, rather than advocating a soft hand, as the Post had indicated, "insisted that a very strong U.S. position be taken at once."

"Bartlett joined talents with Stewart Alsop, the Saturday Evening Post's Washington editor. 'Thereafter, on White House or-

Nothing Like Picking Mother

Terry reached into the box containing about 10,000 tickets and plucked one out.

Can Refute Charge, Says Lawmaker

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Eugene J. Keogh, D-N.Y., a member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said today the Internal Revenue Service could refute charges that Congress and the administration are antibusiness by further easing proposed expense account regulations.

The congressman, testifying at the second day of IRS hearings on suggested rules aimed at ending expense account abuses, said the tax agency should "show restraint and understanding in effectuating the will of Congress."

The new rules were drafted to implement the 1962 tax law which calls for stricter accounting of deductions claimed by businessmen for travel, entertainment and gift expenses.

When the two-day hearings began Tuesday, IRS Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin announced that the rules proposals already had been liberalized because of a flood of written protests from businessmen. Caplin said all controversial features of the proposals would be reconsidered in the light of testimony.

Keogh said that "this Congress and this administration have been accused in some quarters of being antibusiness." He said this was a charge which "I vigorously deny," and added, "You are in the fortunate position to nail that libel" by keeping hint of opposition out of the final regulations.

The New Yorker said Caplin, IRS and the Treasury Department "are to be congratulated for moving in the right direction—just as I hope you will continue in that direction."

His last remark drew laughter from the businessmen in the hearing room. Virtually all witnesses have called for further liberalization of the rules, which will be made final within three weeks. The law itself becomes effective on Jan. 1.

Keogh says he was authorized to say that Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., shared his views.

Another witness was David Clark, administrative assistant to Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn. Clark said Bush had asked him to urge that IRS heed widespread protests from the business community and further soften the record-keeping requirements of the regulations.

A question posed Tuesday by a Minnesota businessman was this: Should Mrs. John F. Kennedy pay for her own meal at White House dinners honoring foreign dignitaries or is this a legitimate business expense of the president?

CHATTER

By BILL RALEY

There is no business like store business at Christmas time! If a person had the time and the talent, books could be written, true life dramas and comedies, on nothing but Christmas shopping.

The cute little boy who selected a fur stole for his mother and wanted to know if he could pay for it by the week out of his paper route money. The attractive young matron, busy with a thousand things, made a purchase early, had it gift wrapped and now can't remember what it was nor for whom. A telephone call yesterday from Santa Claus himself (at least that's what he said), wanting to know how much the suit was in the window and would it fit his Mrs. Santa.

Talk about secrets... we are so filled with secrets we are keeping things from ourselves! If the FBI were aware of our cunning, they would put us on the payroll, but quick. At this time of the year, we would tell a thing a dozen different ways before we tell a fib about it, that is, if it concerns a present for somebody.

Yes, shopping is in full swing, and we at R. S. welcome the rush and hurry connected with it.

Our stock is replenished every few days; new dresses are always coming in, and all you have to do is stop, look and make the selection. The Jeanne Durrell dresses make a lovely gift, light and dark colors wearable from now on into spring, priced from $17.95 up. Coats and more coats are being sold every day for gifts. Both plain and fur trimmed ones, as well as Red Melton jackets, she will love you for this useful and wearable gift.

Don't forget costume jewelry... necklaces and earrings that sparkle; chunky gold bracelets; beautiful pins to wear on your coat or dress; pearls one, two, three and more strands; chains, gold and silver... the gift to be worn on Christmas Day and remembered ever after.

We invite you to Christmas shop today and hope to be seeing you at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion.

Tuesday, Dec. 11 at the Community Room of the First National Bank at 7:00 p. m. to elect the 1963 officers.

The Beacon Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church will have its Christmas party Tuesday night, Dec. 11 at 7 in the church dining hall.

Teen Thinks He's Typical of Generation

By HELN WORDN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I'm a 19-year-old boy who recently flunked college thereby bringing disgrace upon friends and relatives. My grade school marks were above average and those in high school even better; then came this ignominious drop.

Like most of those in my generation my school days were filled with sadness colored by a sense of impending doom. With the world tobogganing straight to hell what have we got to live for?

My 17-year-old sister and 11-year-old brother just laugh and call me a worry wart. My mother says I'm too sensitive. This doesn't stop me from feeling guilty imposing upon my understanding parents by loafing at home, doing an occasional household chore or looning up on studies with the idea of returning to college next semester if I qualify. Why try when a sword of Damocles in the form of a "death" letter from the Draft Board hangs over my head?

I've applied at a couple of places for a part time job but got nowhere. Maybe it's because I still look like a kid; five and a half feet tall, weight under 140, and scanty beard growth. I don't always hear what people say; so therefore don't go out much. Our doctor can't find anything wrong and my interne cousin says it's because I don't listen. I feel useless, all washed up and a burden to my family. I never dated a girl for fear it might lead to sinning.

I've been a total failure in everything started: tap-dancing, accordion-playing, drawing. My parents even paid a swimming instructor to teach me at a summer camp. I tried short-story writing but quit on everything. If only my parents had made me continue all those activities! Now they're both past 50 and graying. You may wonder what I want in life. I'd like to be a crack-jack reporter or research scientist. But I fear to court failure.

I've turned to God in prayer but so far nothing has happened. How can I change the picture? —The Defeated One

Dear Defeated: Yours is a psychological block. Reverse your thinking. Suppose you are only five and a half feet tall? Napoleon was no giant. You've listed your failings so well, now try listing your assets beginning with your parents, as well as those good marks in grade and high school.

Did you follow up the same subjects at college? What if you did flunk? Take it as a challenge, not a disgrace. Force yourself to complete some one bit of unfinished business, even if it's only accordion playing.

Set aside 30 minutes a day for practice, preferably when your family is out. You're the type that will fold up like a sensitive plant at criticism in any form. But, if ever you're to be anybody, you've got to cut self-pity.

Donald Curtis, the metaphysician, lists the five negative attitudes of mind which cause our major difficulties and unhappiness, then gives you five positive attitudes to replace them, in his new book, "Human Problems and How to Solve Them." Read it. Also, check with your doctor about vitamin deficiency.

Dear Helen: My boy married a girl from the right side of the tracks. We live on the wrong side. He's 19, she 17. It was her idea they marry before they finished school. He's a worker and somehow managed to buy a trailer and car with our help. By the time he pays their living expenses, his pockets are turned inside out, yet she keeps crying for more and more money. It's all right for them to see her folks but all wrong for him to come to us. Can such a she be a Christian? —Heartbroken Mother

Dear Heartbroken Mother: Let the youngsters loander. Too much in-law advice from either side will wreck their marriage. You and your daughter-in-law's

Cats, Nashville Split a Pair of Games

By CARTER HARDAGE

Last night at Jones Field House, Hope and Nashville split a pair of games. The Junior Boys lost a close one 25-24, while the B team razzle-dazzle the Scrappers to the tune of 41-19.

Coach Ballard's Bobkittens weren't quite showing the stuff last night and trailed 11-7 at the half, but at the third quarter, and they were even further behind by a score of 22-15. Then things started popping. The Bobkittens have made a habit of making the last quarter the best, and they didn't change last night. With a desperate last effort, they scored 9 points, to 3 for the Scrappers. But it was to no avail, as they lost another by only one point, to make it Nashville 25, Hope 24. Scoring for Hope were: Ramsey, high with 12, Ingram 6; Watkins 4, and Parris 2.

Although the B Boys gave Nashville a good thrashing at 41-19, you couldn't tell it in the first half because Hope led only 14-12 at halftime. But things were very different after that. Hope led 26-16 at the third quarter, and at the final buzzer, Hope had racked up a total of 31 points, to 19 for the Scrappers. Thrash was high scorer for Hope with 8. Then Reinhardt and Jordan 6 each; Honeycutt 4; Henley 3; Mayfield, Guerin, McNatt, Wassell, Hughes, Webb, and Samuels with 2 each. Others playing were: Tomkins, Beard, Billings, Ross, and Powell.

Tonight the senior boys and a senior girls travel to Nashville.

Porkers Tangle With Oklahoma S.

They include Larry Wofford and Tommy Boyer of Fort Smith, Jim Wilson of Cherry Valley and Jerry Rogers and Larry Hogue of North Little Rock.

Oklahoma State's Cowboys also have a 2-0 record.

Rose said he was pleased with the Porkers' quick start, but he said the season was "still young, and we've still got some things to learn."

Arkansas knocked off the University of Kansas and Missouri in the first two games. Rose said the team had played well, but also said that Kansas to Michigan State by something like 20 points.

Cincinnati Keeps Ahead in Nat'l Poll

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio State's flashy Buckeyes jumped right into the thick of contention for college basketball honors but Cincinnati's defending champions easily maintained their lofty station as the nation's No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll today.

As a matter of fact, it was a breeze for the unbeaten Bearcats, who received all but one of the votes cast by a panel of 45 sports writers and sportscasters. The lone first-place vote not garnered by Cincinnati went to the Duke Blue Devils, who were placed second for the second straight week.

Cincinnati gathered 449 out of a possible 450 points on a 10-9-6-7 basis with 44 first and one second place vote.

Ohio State, which rolled up its fourth straight victory Saturday with a 76-69 whipping of highly-ranked West Virginia, was one of three newcomers to the top ten. The others were Colorado, the defending Big Eight champion, which burst into eighth place and Illinois of the Big Ten, which moved into tenth.

High-scoring Loyola of Chicago clung to its fourth place spot and Mississippi State, preseason co-favorite with Kentucky for the Southeastern Conference crown remained fifth. West Virginia fell three pegs from third to sixth, Wisconsin skidded a notch to seventh and Oregon State fell two places to ninth.

Indiana, Kentucky and Wichita, which held the last three places in last week's top ten, fell out of the elite group altogether.

Cincinnati, with the same team that won the NCAA crown last year except for Paul Hogue, rolled over George Washington 86-59 Saturday for its fourth victory. Duke remained unbeaten, posting its third victory with a 92-56 rout of Maryland.

Indiana in Upset Win Over Badgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

John Robbins, at 5-feet 8 inches was the biggest man on the Indiana State campus today after a 22-point performance that further complicated the aspirations of Wisconsin's badgered Badgers.

The Indiana State mighty mite fired in 18 points in the second half as the Sycamores from Terre Haute overcame a 19-point deficit in the final 13 minutes and whipped the nation's seventh-ranked team 87-66 Monday night on the Wisconsin court.

The Badgers built a 12-point, halftime lead to a 19-point bulge before they fizzled.

It was the second loss in four games for the veteran Badgers, who played with the same team that finished second to Ohio State in the Big Ten last year. Wisconsin's Ken Siebel took scoring honors with 25 points.

In other games, Southern Illinois toppled Oklahoma 66-63, Missouri knocked off Indiana 75-66, and Texas 75-66 and Utah upended Oklahoma City 63-61.

Among the elite, fourth-ranked Loyola of Chicago had little difficulty beating Wisconsin-Milwaukee 107-47 as Jerry Harkness paced the Ramblers to their third consecutive over-100 score with 23 points. And No. 5 Mississippi State walloped Louisiana College 83-59 with Joe Dan Gold pacing the Maroons to their 18th consecutive victory with 20 points.

Bradley and Marquette, two teams looking for a spot in the top ten, managed to stay unbeaten by one point. Mack Herndon scored 31 points but the Braves had to hold off a late Murray State, (Ky.) drive for a 79-78 triumph, while the Warriors edged Kansas State 72-71 when two foul shots by Ron Glaser with a minute, 43 seconds remaining provided the winning margin.

Elsewhere around the country Eddie Miles scored 36 points as Seattle thumped Tennessee State 109-87. Drake belted Iowa State 74-52. St. Louis downed Iowa 65-53.

Wednesday, the senior boys play McNeil at Magnolia in the Magnolia Invitational Tournament. Game time is 8:30, and the Bobcats deserve some support, so let's go out and give it to them.

Jockey Gains Five Pounds Tonight

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jockey Ronnier Ferraro, this year's national riding champion, gains five pounds tonight.

That's when he loses his "bug" — the asterisk on the program denoting the five pound weight allowance granted apprentice jockeys.

"I don't think losing the bug will cost me many mounts," he said by telephone from Pimlico, where he already has broken the track record for winners in a meeting with 42.

"I know some jocks fade out after their apprentice years, but I feel that I can keep on learning and winning."

Ferraro, a 19-year-old Philadelphia, is a bug on learning, even though he quit school in the 11th grade.

"I study the charts of every race I ride," he said. "Then I study the next day's mounts. I enter every horse in my notebook, their habits and how they run."

That's a lot of horses. He has surpassed the record total of 1,702 mounts in one year, and still has a busy schedule ahead.

Ferraro had 341 winners going into action today, and has the riding title sewed up. He needs only six more to post the sixth highest winning total in history.

Ferraro, a natural 98-pounder, rode his first winner at Pimlico Nov. 28, 1961 and got his fifth on Dec. 12. His "bug" runs out a year after the fifth winner, under racing rules.

Conference Loses Three Cage Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southwest Conference lost three more intercollegiate basketball games Monday night and in the process saw its undefeated list trimmed to only one team with the downfall of Texas.

The Longhorns, championship favorites, were whipped 75-66 by Louisiana State to their surprise and the surprise of most everybody else.

Arkansas thus is the only unbeaten team in the league and it has played only two games.

Louisiana State did it the hard way, coming from behind a 10-point deficit on the wings of a 26-point scoring spurge by sophomore Dick Maile. Jimmy Gilbert pitched in 20 points for Texas but didn't get much help.

Rice took its fifth straight defeat when it tumbled before Tulane 82-78 at New Orleans and Texas Tech was beaten for the fourth time when it was downed by Memphis State 79-66 at Lubbock.

To make the night a complete washout, Texas Christian was humbled 79-68 by Houston.

Arkansas will have a chance to join the parade of the losers tonight when the Razorbacks play Oklahoma State at Stillwater. Texas A&M hosts Mississippi Southern. Baylor engages Trinity at Waco.

The only bright spot of the night was the performance of Kendall Rhine of Rice. The big fellow popped in 36 points against Tulane to lead all the scorers. He brought his season total to 13 points.

Gotham Bowl Plans Going on as Usual

NEW YORK (AP) — Nebraska and Miami were planning today to go ahead with the Gotham Bowl football game here next Saturday, even though all they are sure of getting out of it at this stage—is the time of day.

Problems over financial arrangements for the teams, the lack of a television tie-up and a newspaper strike in New York that may doom the game to be played without a publicity build-up to the team to a 7-3 mark.

Bob Curran, director of the game, refused comment on the financial problems, but said he had rented Yankee Stadium and ordered 125 wrist watches for the officials and players.

Nebraska Athletic Director Tip Dye said he is confident the Bowl will meet its financial commitments and the game will go on.

It is planned for 11 a.m. EST. Curran's estimated attendance of 30,000 may be optimistic.

Last year's inaugural game between Utah State and Baylor drew less than 15,000.

Miami Athletic Director Jack Harding said he had been assured that a check for "approximately $30,000 would be placed in escrow by Wednesday, according to our agreement."

Dye has asked for a $35,000 deposit "because that's what our expenses will be."

Miami, as it has all year, will depend heavily on the passing of All-America George Mira, the flashy junior quarterback who led the team to a 7-3 mark.

Nebraska had an 8-2 season.

Billy Misses First Bowl Workout

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks went to work Monday preparing for their Sugar Bowl battle New Year's Day with Ole Miss, and he players said the two-week layoff hadn't hurt them.

Quarterback Billy Moore was not on hand for the workout. He had not returned from New York City, where he made appearances with other members of the Look Magazine squad.

Moore was a second-team selection on The Associated Press All-America team.

Tackle Dave Adams and guard Ray Trail, two Porter huskies, said the rest since the Texas Tech game hadn't hurt them.

The rest of the squad appeared chipper and in good condition.

Coach Frank Broyles took the squad indoors for conditioning drills but said, weather permitting, three workouts in pads would be held before the team disbanded for the Christmas holidays.

Practice will be shifted Dec. 26 to Biloxi, Miss., where Broyles said Arkansas will begin learning about Mississippi's undefeated Rebels.

"All the team knows about Mississippi is what they read in the papers," Broyles said. "It will be that way until we get to Biloxi."

Center Jerry Lineberger and Tush Hog tailback Dwayne Cox, both injured early in the season, and halfback George Walker, injured late in the season, will miss the Sugar Bowl game, Broyles said.

Ex-King Captures Syria Fortress

DAMASCUS, Syria AP — Radio Mecca said Sunday ex-King Mohammed Al-Badr's tribal warriors have captured the fortress of Washha in northwest Yemen from a republican garrison headed by officers from the United Arab Republic.

A civil war has been under way since Badr was deposed in a revolutionary coup last September. Sympathies of the neighboring kingdoms of Saudi Arabia and Jordan are with the royalists. President Gamal Abdel Nasser's U.A.R. government is supporting the revolutionaries with troops and planes.
